Operation Job Ready Vets

To all, thank you.

It strikes me during my visits to your program both as a guest at commencement ceremonies and your open house seminars the difficult task it is for our veterans to break into the workforce. Your program does such a great job in prepping our vets who in many instances have found themselves adrift for reasons beyond their control. What an accomplishment.

Our own program Project Healing Waters offers vets some alternative activity that can add a physical and therapeutic element outside the workplace. While non-clinical, we hope to encourage veterans through fellowship on the water and in the fly tying classroom. We hope it brings enjoyment and contentment. Your program works definitively gets them back on their feet economically. And can add an emotional guidepost.

I was so impressed by all the work OJRV does and its graduates and can see that the training and services OJRV provides contributes to better outcomes for our veteran population and the employers who gain positively from their work skills.

I continue to be impressed by your mission and feel fortunate to be a small part of what OJRV does so very well.
